INTRODUCTION

WHAT IS THE CITY CLERK?

"The Clerk is one of the oldest government professions."

The municipal clerk, along with the tax collector, is the oldest of public servants. The office can be traced to biblical times and even before.

St. Paul and his followers, during his missionary work in Persia (now Western Turkey), owed their safety to the action of a town clerk. As related in Acts XIX, 23-25, the artisans of Ephesus, who made the idols of the time, feared the effect of Paul's missionary work on their trade. They incited a mob to seize two of Paul's followers. The town clerk, however, spoke out against this action and insisted that charges laid against these men had to be settled in the proper manner and before the proper authorities. There was no justification for riotous conduct. With that, he dispersed the crowd.

Ancient Greece had a city secretary who read official documents publicly. At the opening of a meeting, one of his duties was to read a curse upon anyone who should seek to deceive the people.

The early keepers of the archives were often called remembrancers, and before writing came into use, their memory was the public record.

The title, as we know it, is derived from the middle ages. A "clerk" was any member of a religious order, a "cleric" or "clergyman." Since, for all practical purposes, the scholarship of the Middle Ages was limited to the clergy, the name "clerk" came to be synonymous with "scholar."

The Office of Clerk can be traced back to the year 1272 A.D. in the History of the Corporation of Old London. In the 1500's, in England there was not only the "Towne Clarke" but also the "Clerc Comptroller of the King's Honorable Household." In 1603, there was a "Clarke General of the Armie." King Henry the Eighth had a "Clarke of the Spicery" and King Charles had his "Clerk of the Robes."

When the early colonists came to America, they set up forms of local government to which they had been accustomed, and the office of clerk was one of the first established. The colony at Plymouth appointed a person to act as a recorder.

Over the years, municipal clerks have become the hub of government, the direct link between the inhabitants of their towns and their government. The clerk is the historian of the community, for the entire recorded history of the town and its people is in the clerk's care.

The eminent political scientist, Professor William Bennett Munro, writing in one of the first textbooks on municipal administration, stated:

"No other office in municipal service has so many contacts. It serves the mayor, the city council, the city manager (when there is one), and all administrative departments, without exception. All of them call upon it, almost daily, for some service or information. Its work is not spectacular, but it demands versatility, alertness, accuracy, and no end of patience. The public does not realize how many loose ends of city administration this office pulls together."

These words, written 40 years ago, are even more appropriate today.

In California there are two ways to become a City Clerk. One is to be elected by the voters of the community and the other is to be appointed by either the City Council or City Administrator or City Manager. This may be the case for either charter or general law cities. Government Code Section 36501 sets forth the governing officers of the city, one of which is a City Clerk. In order for the office to be appointed, the question must be, at some time, put to a vote of the people (GC 36408).

Statistically, in the State of California approximately 30% of the City Clerks are elected to their office. This figure includes both general law and charter cities and was established during a survey conducted by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

The appointed City Clerk is responsible to the City Council and/or the City Manager. Each city is somewhat different from the next in the appointive procedure. Generally, however, the recommendation is made by the City Manager and accepted by the City Council. The appointive powers of the City Council came into action at the adoption for the election results where the question was decided in favor of appointment (GC 36508 - 36511).

This is the annual report prepared by the City Clerk's Department. The scope of responsibilities has been explained in detail in order to familiarize you with the major functions and services of the Department. Since the services performed in the City Clerk's Department are so diverse, it is difficult to compare one year to another. This report is an effort to provide statistics to better quantify the types of services provided.

STATUTORY DUTIES

CALIFORNIA STATE GOVERNMENT CODE

Whether appointed or elected, the City Clerk is required to accomplish certain duties. These duties are partially spelled out in Government Code Section 40800 et seq.

The following is excerpted from the Government Code. These duties may be assigned to other staff persons in some cities; however, they are still the responsibility of the City Clerk.

40801 - Record of proceeding; books; index. The City Clerk shall keep an accurate record of the proceeding of the legislative body in books bearing appropriate titles and devoted exclusively to such purposes, respectively. The books shall have a comprehensive general index.

40802 - Accounting officer; financial records. The City Clerk is the accounting officer of the city and shall maintain records readily reflecting the financial condition of the city. (See Section 40805.5 below)

40804 - Financial statements; publication or posting. The City Clerk shall cause a summary of the city's financial report required by Section 53891, in a form prescribed by the State Controller, to be published once in a newspaper of general circulation, pursuant to Article I (commencing with Section 6000) Chapter I, Division 7, Title 1 of the Government Code. If there is no such newspaper, he shall cause copies of the statement to be posted in three public places in the city designated by ordinance as the place for posting of public notices.

40805 - Financial statements; time for printing or posting. The report shall be published or posted not later than one hundred twenty (120) days after the close of the fiscal year for which the report is compiled.

40805.5 - Transfer of accounting and financial duties of City Clerk to Director of Finance. The financial and accounting duties imposed upon the City Clerk by Sections 40802 through 40805 may be transferred to a Director of Finance when such office has been established and the powers and duties thereof defined by ordinance.

40806 - Ordinance book; certificate. The City Clerk shall keep a book marked "ordinances" and record in it all city ordinances with his certificate annexed to each, stating:

- a. It is a true and correct copy of a city ordinance.
- b. The ordinance number.
- c. It has been published or posted pursuant to law.

40807 - Record of ordinance; evidence. The record with the certificate is prima facie evidence of the contents of each ordinance and of its passage and publication. It is admissible as such evidence in any court or proceedings.

40808 - City records; use in court; custody. The official city records in the custody of the City Clerk shall not be filed in any court proceeding or other action, but shall be returned to the custody of the City Clerk.

40809 - Ordinance; proof of passage and publication. This article does not prevent the proof of the passage and publication of ordinances in the usual way.

40810 - Ex officio assessor. The City Clerk is the ex officio assessor unless the legislative body provides for the assessment and collection of city taxes by county officers or otherwise.

40811 - City seal; custodian. The City Clerk is the custodian of the city seal.

40812 - Additional duties. He shall perform such additional duties as are prescribed by ordinance.

40813 - Deputies. The City Clerk may appoint deputies, for whose acts he and his bondsmen are responsible. The deputies shall hold office at the pleasure of the City Clerk and receive such compensation as is provided by the legislative body.

40814 - Oaths; affidavits; deposition; certifications. The City Clerk and his deputies may administer oaths or affirmations and take and certify affidavits and depositions pertaining to city affairs and business which may be used in any court or proceedings in the State. The acknowledgment of an instrument may be made before a City Clerk and his deputies within the City in which they are appointed or elected.

Additionally, the statutes of the State of California prescribe the basic functions and duties of City Clerks in General Law Cities. Clerks in Charter Cities customarily have the same duties, but individual charter provisions may provide for variations or additional duties for the specific clerk and city.

The Government Code provides that the City Clerk shall perform such additional duties as are prescribed by ordinance. Thus, the duties and responsibilities of city clerks are not necessarily the same even in General Law Cities, and the City Clerks are subject to the exact requirements of his/her own city.

It has been established that the City Clerk's Department demonstrates some expertise in 25-35 different functional areas. This fact points out the diversity that symbolizes the routine of the City Clerk's Department.

CITY CLERK'S DEPARTMENT ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

DEPARTMENT DESCRIPTION

The City Clerk's Department is usually the principal link between City Council and the City staff in the preparation of official agendas, documents, and minutes. However, the functions are still broader.

The City Clerk's Department handles a myriad of duties relating to the official business of City Council, its commissions and committees. It is incumbent on the City Clerk to be informed and to keep the City Councilmembers informed.

Traditionally, the City Clerk's Department has been considered a main communication point between citizens and the City Council.

The Napa City Clerk is directly appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Mayor and City Council. The City Clerk is a City Official.

The primary responsibilities include legislative action organization/administration; records management; public relations; liability and claims processing; campaign and statement of economic interest reporting; municipal elections; bid and contract administration; municipal code and charter administration; and liaison services for the City Council.

The City Clerk's Department consists of four full-time employees: City Clerk, Assistant City Clerk and two Office Assistants.

The Clerk's Department experiences the dilemma of "other services" vs. "statutory requirements." The California Government Code places many requirements on the City Clerk's Department for the day-to-day operations of the City. These statutory requirements are stringent and are designed with the intention of minimizing liability of the City's actions. It is essential that these requirements are met; all other services are non-essential until statutory requirements have been satisfied.

The "level of service barometer" is affected by City Council actions and the legal requirements imposed as a result of those actions. The Clerk's Department must stay in a constant "readjustment of priorities" state in order to process all documents according to prescribed time frames. If this does not happen, the results could place the City in a liable position.

The City Clerk's Department is the keeper of all City documents. These include agreements, vehicle registration papers, Council meeting minutes, Council correspondence, deeds, recorded ordinances and resolutions, assessment districts, bond sales, franchises, etc.

The various departments within City Hall are dependent on the Clerk's Department for access to these documents and copies of such to facilitate their daily needs.

Since constant reference must be made to the records in the custody of the City

Clerk's Department, an efficient City Clerk's Department can greatly assist in facilitating the proper and accurate flow and accomplishment of administrative work.

The preparation, publication and dissemination of the agenda and agenda items for the City Council is an ongoing; interdependent activity. A number of timely, coordinated actions must be performed on a weekly basis. If problems and delays are to be avoided, all departments must adhere to fundamental format and procedural requirements.

CITY COUNCIL GOALS

◆ Economic Vitality

Programs, policies and procedures that support both the retention of existing businesses and attraction of new businesses to the City. Discussions regarding economic vitality emphasize the need to be strong in this area in order to generate revenues that support the financing of other goals, objectives and priorities.

◆ Neighborhood Improvements

Discussions in this area focus on meeting the direct needs and interests of the City's residents including safe, clean and attractive living environments. Local issues surrounding neighborhoods focus on the need for effective police, fire and code enforcement services.

◆ Technology and Working Smart

This broad goal/objective touches directly on the need to identify and implement available technologies that impact directly the way we do our work. A supporting message emphasizes the need to "work smart." Working smart recognizes that resources are finite yet service quality and expectations, in most cases, are not.

◆ Community-Wide Safe Environment

Recognizing the numerous traffic related tragedies that the community has recently experienced, discussions in this area focus on making sure we are doing everything that we possibly can to improve our ratings in this area as well as other "safe community" efforts such as crime prevention, youth services, fire and public safety and disaster preparedness.

◆ Internal/External Communication and Cooperation

This is a very broad objective that builds on the concept of working smart. Discussions brought under this broad heading include an emphasis on working more effectively with outside agencies and jurisdictions; keeping communication open with these external agencies; and building a strong communication and team-work effort internally involving all employees and staff.

◆ Infrastructure Improvement

Discussions in this area recognize the need to take a long-term look at our infrastructure. This priority re-emphasizes the fact that our street, storm drain, water, sewerage and related systems serve as the foundation for all services that the City provides.
